Schedule

Day one: basic technique and landscape, finishing within 25 minutes. Perspective of contrast, color and focal point. Techniques from John Singer Sargent's watercolors.

Day two: still life, people and color.

Day three: probably on location, plein air, using the technique fearlessly. Interactive critiques and demonstrations are both given constantly in a very positive, personal atmosphere. Instruction is geared to individual needs of each person so each achieves their goal.

This workshop is ideal for timid beginners who want to fearlessly paint in public, and perfect for experienced artists who want mobility, minimal equipment and no clean-up.

Learn enough to play for a lifetime!
